Breakout Session III: Graduate Student Concerns

Colin Campbell (Penn State University)

Cacey Stevens (University of Chicago)

In this session, participants will discuss:

1. How does your department monitor students as they progress towards their degrees? What changes to your department's policies and/or degree program(s) have recently been considered or implemented as a result?

2. Are incoming graduate students assisted with finding affordable housing, childcare, etc.? What career preparation services does your department offer?

3. What policies are in place in your department and institution to address reports of advisor-student abuse and/or discrimination? How are faculty prepared to be effective mentors?

4. What other concerns have graduate students at your institution expressed?
